Culmen Wins International Stability Operations Association Impact Award for Ukraine Work

Alexandria, Virginia, June 22, 2023—Culmen International, a premier international security firm, is honored to announce our recent award for support of the Ukrainian war effort. International Stability Operations Association (ISOA) Global Impact Award for Ukraine Operations in the medium sized company category. Marion Moxley (NDF) accepted the award on behalf of Culmen. The award recognizes companies that have assisted the Ukrainian military, government ministries, and people of Ukraine in providing defense and humanitarian assistance including, material and product-specific support. Culmen’s award was based on the work performed by our Department of State (DOS) Nonproliferation and Disarmament Fund (NDF) Team, Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA) Threat Reduction Logistics Services (TRLS) Team, and Department of Energy (DOE) Nuclear Smuggling Detection and Deterrence (NSDD) Team, and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory (PNNL) Team. Culmen is very proud of this award and the countless team-member hours and innovative work it represents. “Culmen is honored to accept this award and be able to contribute support to Ukraine, with whom we have worked for the past 18 years” said Dan Berkon, Culmen’s CEO.

About ISOA

“ISOA is the only worldwide association representing the stability sector exclusively and effectively. Through partnerships, engagement, and advocacy, members work together with key organizations and government policy makers for long-term stability and growth in the world’s most unstable places.”
