Culmen Receives Certification in The International Stability Operations Association's (ISOA) Women, Peace, and Security Program

Alexandria, Virginia, May 9, 2023—Culmen International, a premier international security firm, is pleased to announce certification in Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) by the International Stability Operations Association (ISOA). This 2023-year certification strives to promote the inclusion of women in conflict prevention, resolution, and post-conflict stabilization efforts. “Culmen is honored for the opportunity to support such an inclusive and value-based program” said Dan Berkon, Culmen’s CEO. “Culmen is glad to work with the ISOA Women, Peace, and Security Program.”

About The International Stability Operations Association Women, Peace, and Security Program

“ISOA's Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) Certification Program is grounded in the October 2017 legislation entitled The Women, Peace, and Security Act which focuses on proactively integrating the needs and perspectives of women, and empowering women to contribute their talents and energies to international peace, security, and prosperity. [The] WPS Certification Program, designed to train organizations in WPS principles and implementation, was developed with leading contributions by influential thought leaders and advocates from the U.S. government, academia, the NGO community, and [the ISOA industry].” ISOA is a global association representing the stability sector through partnerships, engagement, and advocacy.
